WATER SERVICE FOR NAVAL HEROES

Veterans Of Foreign Wars
To Have Annual Service
On Sunday Morning

New Castle's annual Memorial Day season will be ushered in with services Sunday, as a prelude to the annual parade and celebration on Memorial Day, when tribute will be paid to the heroes of all our wars.

The first of these services will take place Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, when the Daughters of Union Veterans will have their service at the monument on the public square.

At 6:30, the various veterans and patriotic organizations will assemble at the City Building, from whence they will march in parade formation to the East North Street bridge, where the annual water service, honoring the memory of those who have died at sea during our wars, will take place. Dr. C. B. Winger, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church will speak.

At the close of this service, the marchers will re-assemble and will proceed to the First Presbyterian church, where Dr. John J. McIl-vaine, pastor of the church, and a veteran of the World War, will deliver the annual Memorial sermon.

Plans Innovation

Dr. McIlvaine has planned a service which will be unlike anything of its kind seen here before, and should prove an innovation to those who attend.

Sunday morning, the Corporal
Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will present its Memorial service in the First M. E. church. This service is one of the most impressive of its kind, a battlefield setting with a single grave and cross, being used as a centerpiece for the pulpit. Appropriate music will accompany the service.

Monday afternoon and evening, representatives of the different veterans organizations will gather to decorate the graves in the cemeteries of New Castle and its immediate surroundings, when flowers and flags will be placed upon the graves of all war veterans.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Councilmen who have been attending the canal hearing at Washington, D. C., are expected to return home today.

Manufacturers Light & Heat company are excavating in East street to repair a service line to the city building.

Dry weather of the past few days has resulted in the gardeners and flower garden cultivators, getting out the hose and sprinkling can.
Gardens are now being watered, for the first time this season. Pa New is informed that the top of the ground is again quite dry.

It seems to Pa New that a little elevation of the temporary dam
the boys have erected across the Nesha-nock creek near the foot of the Croton hill would provide a real bathing place for a large host of children of the city, during the hot summer months just ahead. New Castle is in need of a centrally located outdoor bathing pool of some kind.

Ann oddity on display at The News today was an ordinary egg which had the numeral "2" conspicuously standing out on one end of it. Mrs.
Andrew Kotarba, 611 Johns street, found it.

(International News Service)
ROME, May 25—Italy will con-colonies despite the agreement reached at Geneva to arbitrate the dispute with Abyssinia, a foreign office spokesman announced today.

This move has been decided upon,
it was said, "for defensive purposes long considered necessary."
"The Geneva agreement," the spokesman declared, "consequently makes no difference with regard to mobilization of Italian troops, although they might be recalled if the conciliation committee reaches act as general chairman of the day and he already has a number of committees working on plans. The

NRA COMPROMISE PLAN OPPOSED BY SENATORS

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, May 25—The administration's trial balloon proposal on NRA extension today failed to satisfy senate opponents.

As house leaders planned to rush
a bill based on the "Richberg plan" through next week, Senate backers of the Clark 9½ months extension resolution girded themselves for a protracted battle.

The compromise plan, apparently made public on high authority to get the reaction of congress and the country, is designed to prevent a deadlock which would doom the NRA on June 16.

The proposal includes acceptance of the provisions of the Clark resolution adopted by the senate banning price-fixing, provided the senate will take Richberg's proposal that NRA extend to interstate commerce and to business "substantially affecting" interstate commerce.

The administration also was insisting upon more than the 30 days allowed by the senate for revision of codes. While house leaders planned to pass a two year extension resolution, they conceded that some compromise might have to be made with the senate. A suggestion was made to extend it until April 1, 1937.

"We will never agree to anything like that over here," said Senator Clark (D) of Missouri, author of the Clark resolution. "If they pass it and send it over we will refuse to send the bill to conference."

PROPOSE BONUS PAYMENT FROM WORKS-RELIEF FUND

WASHINGTON, May 25—A drive for payment of the soldiers bonus out of the $4,800,000,000 works relief fund gained new supporters on Capitol Hill today.

At the same time, congressional bonus leaders confessed President Roosevelt's announcement that he would veto even the pending Social Security Bill if it came to him loaded down with a bonus rider, dealt a body blow to their cause. Some pessimists went so far as to say there may be no bonus legislation at all during the present session of congress.

Nevertheless, bonus forces continued their battle. Rep. Patman bill to pay the soldiers with new currency, called supporters together

Larger Grants For Projects Will Be Made

Outright Grants Up To 45 Per Cent On Some Projects Provided

INTEREST RATES ON LOANS CUT

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 25—Liberalization of terms for loans and grants to states, cities and other public bodies on public works projects is expected to open the way for a wider range of short-time building and work activities, work relief officials asserted today.

The new regulations approved by President Roosevelt permit federal grants of up to 45 per cent of the cost of projects and loans at three per cent interest rate. The old maximum on grants was 30 per cent and the PWA interest rate was four per cent.

In its recommendations for the more liberal program the advisory committee on allotments stated:
"The change in terms recommended opens the way for communities to obtain projects of the type that are permanent assets for their localities which otherwise they would have difficulty in obtaining unless they would undertake to share with the federal government the financial burden."

"Localities with plans hospitalized for construction of schools, community centers, waterworks, buildings, sewers and similar types of projects of permanent value thus would be encouraged to proceed with such resulting construction at once."

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

(Special To The News)
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 25.
—Was reading today where the Federation of Women's Clubs was going to have a hot election. The woman in line for the presidency, (she is now first vice president) they all admit has every qualification, worked up for 30 years in the tured lady, but she is an Indian.

You would expect intolerance from some organizations, but not from the most civilized one we have. Even one of the two great uncivilized tribes (the Republicans) elected dear old Charley Curtis. So I don't believe these ladies going to get

They can't afford to do that.

Naval Recruiter M. L. Nixon has been notified that his district quota of recruits from July 1 to the close

The 52 men will be recruited from Lawrence, Mercer, Butler, Venango,
Clarion and Forest counties, the dis-

Nixon has opened in Sharon a sub-each Wednesday afternoon.

For months the district quota here has been anywhere from two to six

CLEVELAND, O., May 25—Glenn

Huge Navy Bill Near Enactment

Senate And House Conferees
To Give Final Touches
To Measure

PROVIDES FOR 24
FIGHTING SHIPS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 25—Approved by the Senate, 55 to 18, the largest peace-time naval appropriations bill in history moved rapidly toward final enactment today as House and Senate conferees prepared to discuss changes in the measure.

The bill, which calls for $460,- 000,000 in answer to President Roosevelt's demand for a "second-to-none" navy, was increased by $11,690,000 over House appropriations.

It provides for the construction of 24 fighting ships under the Vinson-Trammell treaty strength naval program in addition to the construction of 555 new airplanes.

The huge appropriation will permit the immediate construction of ships authorized in 1929. These ships include two cruisers, $19,150,- 000; one airplane carrier, $27,895,- 000; 15 destroyers, $6,155,000 to $7,- 830,000 each; six submarines, $5,- 647,000 each.

The navy expects to be well under way with the construction program by next year.
Ultimate cost of the 24 new ships will approximate $197,427,000.

Some of the money appropriated will be allotted to complete ships started from a $278,000,000 PWA allotment in 1933.

(International News Service)
TACOMA, Wash., May 25—A gigantic search of the entire Pacific Northwest was underway today for George Weyerhaeuser, 9 year old scion of the famous multi-millionaire lumber family, believed kidnapped and held for $200,000 ransom.

The slender, curly haired youth vanished while enroute home from school yesterday noon.

W. K. Bowling, department of justice agent from Seattle, arrived here early today. Presence of Bowling here silently corroborated reports that the missing boy's wealthy father, John Philip Weyerhaeuser, Jr., had received a note last night demanding $200,000 for his son's safe return.

A minute description of the missing boy was flashed to all flying squad police cars on every state highway. All roads leading out of Tacoma were blocked off as soon as the boy's mysterious disappearance was reported to police.

Kidnapers Get Start.
It was feared, however, that the kidnapers, who apparently had timed their plot to the very second, had made a getaway from the city with their victim.

At 11:50 a. m. yesterday the boy, accompanied by a school chum,
Bruce Oman, left the Lowell school.
Young George waved "so long" to the Oman youth at the corner of the school and departed for the Ann Wright seminary, a private girls' school, several blocks away.

There George was to have met his sister, Ann, and the Weyerhaeuser family chauffeur who daily drove them home for lunch.

Mrs. Rodney Piccomb, the boy's aunt, telephoned the principal of the Lowell school and was informed that George, as usual, had departed at the noon lunch period and was not at school.

Becoming worried when no word was received of the boy following the lapse of an hour, Mrs. Piccomb advised the boy's father of the situation. Police were then notified.

It was well over two hours before police learned of the youth's disappearance. Loss of this precious time gave the kidnapers a start on their flight—perhaps just as they had planned.

Fleet Heads For Pearl Harbor

Facilities Of Harbor To Be Tested—Bombing Planes Return

NON-STOP FLIGHTS MADE FROM MIDWAY

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD U. S. S. PENNSYLVANIA WITH U. S. FLEET, May 25—Beginning the fourth phase of the Pacific maneuvers, the United States fleet headed by Flagship Pennsylvania was to start into Pearl Harbor at 8 a. m. (Honolulu time) today.

This phase of the maneuvers, known as "problem 16," is a test of the facilities of the harbor here and is regarded as very important as "no fleet is better than its base."

Officers pointed out that lack of proper base facilities would greatly handicap fleet operations in the Pacific or elsewhere. It was declared a base should be able to accommodate an entire fleet with drydocks and other facilities.

Admiral Arrives
Among the first vessels arriving at Pearl Harbor today, in addition to the Pennsylvania, carrying Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, fleet commander, was a group of destroyers and cruisers.

Preceding the first contingent of surface vessels into the harbor was a group of navy bombers which have been operating with the fleet after a massed flight of 43 planes to Midway Island.

At 8:15 last night (Honolulu time) the first of a squadron of 10 Johnstons, commanding the base force aircraft, dropped to a perfect landing after a 1,200-mile nonstop flight from Midway.

A squadron of eight planes remained at French Frigate Shoals last night and is scheduled to arrive at Pearl Harbor tomorrow.

Other squadrons of the bombers flew into Pearl Harbor ahead of Admiral Johnson's group.

Strung out from French Frigate Shoals to Pearl Harbor was a group of destroyers to guard against forced landings by any of the planes.

The remainder of the battleships, the aircraft carrier Langley and more destroyers are due Sunday with destroyers and mine-sweepers which engaged in the futile search for the wrecked bombing plane in which six men lost their lives.

In addition to this, the Company will take a very active part in the "Water Service" at the North street bridge. The service will take place at 6 o'clock and the Company's part is the firing of three volumes of shots in memory of the departed soldiers and sailors.

ing. He continued to insist that some sort of legislation would be written into law at the present session.

Bills embodying payment out of the works relief money were pending in both houses, and there appeared today a new spurt of sentiment behind them. House Republicans, a few conservative house Democrats, and some senators, announced they would back a drive for enactment of one of these measures.

Strength In Doubt
Just how much strength the new drive will muster was a matter of doubt. A survey of senators who voted to override Mr. Roosevelt's veto of the Patman bill revealed a surprising agreement with the sentiments expressed by Senator Steiwer (R) of Oregon.

"A strong effort will be made to enact bonus legislation," he said, "and I personally would vote for a bill to pay the soldiers out of the works relief money, as would a number of others."

"Despite this sentiment, I have some fears for bonus legislation at the present session of congress. It appears that the president has and can hold sufficient votes to sustain a veto. He has done it once. Probably can do it again."

Some Democratic bonus backers were still optimistic in the face of these gloom observations.

"I believe we can write bonus legislation into law at the present session," said Senator Clark (D) of Missouri.

"I doubt if there will be sufficient strength in the senate to write into a law a proposal paying the bonus out of the works relief fund, however."

Clark, along with Steiwer and some others, believed the so-called three-year bill has the best chance of enactment. Sponsored by the Missouriian, this would direct the president to pay the bonus, with a bond issue, new currency, or from the works relief money, as he sees fit.

classmates and was considered a "regular feller" by most of them. His teachers regarded him as a well-mannered boy, full of life and a good student.

The boy was last seen wearing brown corduroy trousers, tennis shoes and a white sweat shirt with green stripes. He has dark brown curly hair and brown eyes. He is of slender build.

The vast Pacific timber tracts of the Weyerhaeuser family extend from the Canadian border far to the south into Oregon.

The missing boy's father is the son of the late John Philip Weyerhaeuser of St. Paul, Minn., famed figure in the lumber industry, who came to the northwest in the early 1900's.

Tacoma, May 25—"It is the kidnapers' next move."

Cliff Osborne here today as he admitted that the search for George Weyerhaeuser, nine-year-old son of the wealthy Weyerhaeuser family, was virtually at a standstill.

"There is no question now about the boy having been kidnapped. At first it was thought he might have run away to see a circus at Puyallup and lost his way. Every gully, park and wooded spot in Tacoma has been searched by detectives, police, Boy Scouts or citizens. The search has been city-wide in scope and the town is still being fine-combed."

Frank Natale Is Acquitted

Freed Of Murder Charge After Second Trial At Youngstown

Frank Natale, local resident who went on trial this week in Youngstown, on charges of second degree murder after witnesses had testified that they had been influenced by fear in a previous trial.

Natale was charged with the murder of Steve Ditomasio, Struthers, O., in November 1933. In the first trial, in which first degree murder was the charge, Natale was found guilty and sentenced to the Columbus penitentiary for life. He had served several months of his sentence when friends in New Castle interested themselves in the case and found that there had been a number of errors in the trial.

An appeal was taken and the Court of Appeals reversed the conviction and ordered a new trial. The second trial reduced the charge to second degree murder.

2. Through diplomatic channels, Mussolini has informed Paris, London and Geneva that his ultimate aim is Italian control over Abyssinia similar to the control that France exercises over Morocco.

3. Baron Pompeo Aloisi, Italian league delegate, has been quoted as saying that Italy's approval of the council's resolution does not mean that his country will cease piling up arms and men along the Ethiopian border.

SYNTHETIC FARM LIFE

WHEREVER our future statesmen may come from, one thing is reasonably certain. They won't come from New York city. A primary requirement of American statesmanship, as everyone knows, is that the aspirant to public eminence be born on a farm. New York children not only were not born on farms; there are thousands of them who have never been on one, and who have never seen a cow.

To do what it can about remedying this deficiency, the New York park commission has mounted a farm on wheels, taking it about the city. It consists primarily of a "barn," which is in miniature a reproduction of the red-painted barn down on the farm. It will be the home of a cow, a pig, a turkey and a goose. Hens are not mentioned, but perhaps they will be there. Assurance is given that an air of verisimilitude will be provided by harness hanging on pegs and cobwebs in the corners.

The farm will be moved from playground to playground. The idea was suggested by the interest of the children in the animals in the zoo, and the report that thousands of youngsters in New York have never seen a cow. They still have opportunities now and then to see a horse, which may account for the fact that only the harness has place in the wandering barn.

And thus through its traveling farm, the New York park department provides a source of wonder and amusement for the children of the tenements. There is a new attraction to draw them away from the dangers of the streets. To children of riper age it may be cause for wonder when told that there is a municipal venture which costs practically nothing. It is explained that the barn was built in the shops of the park department from material in storage. As things go in city administration the price of a cow is negligible.

WHY IT RAINS

An ardent observer of the weather and a shining example of the truth of Mark Twain's remark upon that absorbing topic, we record and pass on for general consumption all available information concerning it. Our latest morsel is the discovery that "air masses" from the north and those from the south have established a meeting place farther south this year. That, the weather men say, is causing rain in areas that were drought-stricken last year and its immediate predecessors. It is a well established fact that what causes rain is the meeting of masses of air, the warm mass carrying the moisture and the cold contact precipitating it.

In the drought years, the weather records indicate, the point of contact moved far to the north. Why, no one knows. This year that point is shifting back to its accustomed region and normal conditions follow. The wet and dry cycles credited to this general area by records and tradition could be accounted for in that way, but there still wouldn't be anything anybody could do about it.

STATE POWER ON THE WANE

A consolidation proposal has been made that the country be divided on a national scale into ten commonwealths to replace the present forty-eight states.

Of course, nothing of the sort is humanly or politically possible, but the mere fact that this and like suggestions are made—some apparently seriously does reveal a weakening of the doctrine of state's rights.

And while there is little possibility that the federal framework will ever be disturbed practical considerations have resulted in regional groupings of states for administrative purposes.

The Federal Reserve divides the country into twelve regional districts. The Relief Administration has also grouped states into larger units, and the states themselves, for development projects, such as conservation and for mutual assistance in combating crime, have made pacts for virtual elimination of state lines.

In a larger sense politics is and long has been regional, based on a broad identity of interest, rather than on the separatism of purely surveyor's lines.

So that while the states will remain as political units, practical expediency in administration and mutuality of interest are bringing about national regional groupings. And the development of communication is bound to accelerate this movement.

RISING MARKET IN TWINS

Statistics are curious things, and one of the most curious statistics in recent years is in the report of the Association of Baby-Carriage Dealers, recently made public. It discloses an unaccountable increase in the demand for twin-perambulators. The association tactfully evades discussion of causes (leaving it, perhaps, to the newspapers to make the most, or the least, of it) but comes out with the fact: there are more twins, or at least more twin baby-carriages, being sold today than ever before.

A natural inference might be that parents have suddenly become envious of the Dionne family and are going in for twins and other multiples of progeny in a big way. And, since it is easier to set up the twin-baby habit than that of triplets, quadruplets and so on, the trade in twin-baby carriages is first to feel the effect of the new biological burgeoning. Or it may be due to the economic strain and stress which during the last three years has occasioned the doubling up of families—sometimes three and four-fold—in houses and apartments which in ordinary times accommodated only one. In these crowded conditions the processes of life and death go on relentlessly. There are no more children to the family, but there are to the dwelling. What more natural then, than to make one baby-carriage, or two or three, answer the needs of the many families under one roof?

However, this is a matter which does not necessarily demand explanation. If there are more twins than there used to be, there's no reason why, but merely to accept as a fact. Either as a fact, or the product of a clever press agent of the Association of Baby-Carriage Dealers.

In most towns there are just two kinds of people: Those who play bridge and those who are afraid to invite.

You can't satisfy people. When they're well fixed, the only difference is that they worry about smaller troubles.

It seems that the really serious issue is being completely ignored. What's to be done about the fifth Dionne girl who, nearly a year old, hasn't yet cut her first tooth?

YOUR ANSWER IS WITHIN YOU

You've written me a letter. You say in it that you're coming up to see me some afternoon. You'll send in your name and if I'm too busy to see you, that'll be all right, you'll not be offended. You'll come some other time. All you want is a bit of advice from me. Just a few moments of my time, just a little advice.

Very well, stranger, I'll be here. I'll see you. I'll talk to you. I don't know you, you don't know me, but it'll be a pleasure to sit here and talk to you. And I'll get more out of it than you do, I'm sure. But about that advice business—well, I don't know. It's just possible that I may not have any in stock on the day you call.

Besides, I'm afraid of it. You may be one of those odd people who ask for advice and take it. One of those one-in-a-million people you read about. You sit here and tell me about your troubles and I find myself getting interested, getting involved in your affairs, and the first thing we know I find myself starting a sentence with "Now, if I were you—" and that's one of the most potentially dangerous sentences in the world.

I say, "If I were you" but I can't be YOU. I can't come anywhere near imagining what I would do if I were you. I can't go back through your childhood and live your life. I can't know what mental habits you've developed. I can't know how your failures and your successes, your triumphs and dejections have affected you. All I see is this fellow, you sitting before me, and giving me a few scraps of information about himself. So how can I presume to advise you?

It flatters me to have you ask for advice, but you do not know what risks you are taking. And you mustn't be so careless of your life, of your happiness. You'd better dig into yourself and find your own answer to your problems. It is there, have no doubt of that. Deep within you, long buried, perhaps, is wisdom you have forgotten, is certainty you have lost. It is there for you, for your comfort, courage and happiness if only you will go in after it. So, though I would give you no advice, I would hardly give you that idea—to use if it seems worth while to you.

DILIGENT APPLICATION TO WORK BRINGS SUCCESS

Recently you have come to see that you made a very unwise choice in determining the work that earns your livelihood.

When you made the choice, your idea was to gain the largest income possible within the shortest possible time.

In other lines suggested you could foresee many years of hard work and small wages.

But you also could see that the latter choice would bring you into an important and lucrative position.

But this conviction did not cause you to change your mind. Now you see your mistake.

You will not see a larger income in the future and your present income does not satisfy your tastes and desires in advancing life.

It is surprising that you did not realize that the thing which is so easily learned needs the least in efficiency and is, of course, the field where the greater number of persons will enter and compete for a livelihood.

You may be in a rut, with financial demands making a change hazardous.

All you can do is to try to become much better than others in your line.

THE RED GERANIUM

I like the red geranium
Because it seems to be
The bit of bloom that lights the room
Of cruel poverty.

In windows bleak as I go by
It shows a woman's care.
And always I am glad to spy
Its flash of splendor there.

It is a sturdy plant that thrives
And seems to be content
To light with grace the window space
Of shack and tenement.

The red geranium gladly shares
What humble folks endure,
And seems to me well pleased to be
The orchid of the poor.

INSANITY POVERTY IGNORANCE

This screwy idea was thought up in a state of insanity and sent to you with the hope it might bring you hard luck within three (3) days. Make five copies of this letter and send me a dime (wrapped in a ten dollar bill). Send the five copies to five friends or enemies whom you know to be sort of dizzy.

Leave out the name of the person you add your own, making an application to the insane asylum for each of them.

In omitting the top name you write 15,625 letters and mail them out at the rate of 3c each and figuring your time, stationery, and wear and tear on the brain at 7c, you will only be out $1,562.50, and I guarantee you will qualify for this club.

Now, is this idea worth a plugged nickel? OF COURSE NOT.

Don't have faith in anyone. Don't join any more clubs. Don't send me any more chain letters, or we will certainly go "NERTS" together.

NEED SENSE

Off an island in the West Indies sailed a motor launch with some scores of excursionists aboard. A panic or other wave of feeling swept the crowd. Everybody rushed to one side of the boat. It upset; many lives were lost.

We make constitutions, frame laws, establish local self-governments to prevent such a sweep of passion, such a rush of people all in one direction, from swamping the ship of fate.

Modern means of communication—the wide-flung press, the nationwide voice of radio, increase the chance for such sweeps. The ungovernable, maddened mob on a community scale we know all too well. Suppose such a mob formed on a national scale!

HOW IT STARTED

Once upon a time a king, desirous of going on a hunt, consulted the court astrologer, as was the custom to learn what kind of weather might be expected. The seer assured him the day would be fine and the hunt successful.

In high spirits the king and his followers sallied forth to the hunt. On the road they met a peasant riding an ass, and the king halted him cheerily: "This is a going to be a fine day, my good fellow!"

The peasant doffed his cap and bowed low. "I humbly beg your majesty's pardon," replied the peasant, "but on the contrary I am sure it will rain before evening."

And lo, it did rain! By noon the king and his henchmen were thoroughly drenched. Disgusted and angry he returned to the court and fired the astrologer. Then he sent for the peasant he had met. "I shall make that fellow my weather prophet," he reflected.

When the peasant appeared before the king he said to him, "My man, you appear to be a true prophet. Tell me, I pray you, how did you know it was going to rain?"

"By my jacksass, sire," answered the peasant. "When his ears stand up I know the day will be fair, but when his ears droop down, then I know we shall have rain."

"Aha!" exclaimed the king, "so that is how you knew! By my faith I shall appoint that humble beast of yours my royal weather prophet!" And he did so—thereby setting a precedent that has been followed ever since by rulers and those in political authority—namely, the practice of appointing jacksasses to occupy important public offices.

Bandwagon Becoming Crowded.
Third Party Hopes Climb Aboard.
The High Salary Publicity.Central Press

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 25.—The political situation is clearing earlier than had been expected. The Progressives will be for President Roosevelt's reelection. The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin will support the president—but will try to dominate congress. The door has been slammed in the face of Huey Long and his third-party movements by these forces.

The Republicans, firm in their belief that the country desires a "return" to "good old days," are expected to nominate an ultra-conservative. (At least, the Rooseveltians hope so.)

And that will mean the re-election of Roosevelt as a "middle-of-the-road."

Such is the word of the political crystal gazers.

At least, such is the word that is abroad in the land outside Washington.

BANDWAGON

There are three interesting phases to the situation:

1. The La Follette's of Wisconsin are standing in very close to President Roosevelt—and that takes care of the Progressive near-northwest.

2. Mayor La Guardia of New York, who might have been a formidable leader of the Republicans if he had not decided to continue steering right, now is looked upon as closer to the Roosevelt Democratic throne than is Tammany. It is not too much to expect that La Guardia may be heading toward the governorship of New York, with the tacit Roosevelt blessing.

3. Father Coughlin, even in his bitterest attacks, is making it clear that he is starting no anti-Roosevelt drive. He, nevertheless, is proving to be increasingly embarrassing—and, out in the field at last, he is viewed as able to swing some congressional elections. The ultra-liberals fear him as a future Hitler, and are trailing Roosevelt as a power likely, in a negative manner, to "preserve liberties."

SPEAKS FOR ROOSEVELT

The old guard Democrats are not the ones speaking for President Roosevelt.

The most pro-Roosevelt words recently were spoken by Fiorello La Guardia, who was elected mayor of New York on a Republican-Fusion ticket, in opposition to Democrats.

Said Mayor La Guardia at the anniversary meeting of the Progressive party in Fond du Lac, Wis.: "President Roosevelt's administration, breaking through tradition, resistance and opposition, has courageously faced the situation, and for the first time in the history of the country a ration wage system of relief has been provided."

But relief is not the cure. La Guardia added:

May 26, 1865—Gen. Edmund Kirby Smith surrendered the last Confederate Army, in Texas, and the long and bloodiest internecine war in modern times finally ended, except for some raids at sea carried out by captains who didn't know the Confederacy was a Lost Cause. This last Confederate (full) general to surrender was also the last to die.

Shall it be another time of devastation and destruction or a constructive inter-lace of God plays its part? Will we again consent to the destruction of life, or shall we protect our youth and guide them into peaceful pursuits and accept the love of God in human life?"

Congressional Visitors Would Get Score Card

Congressman Suggests Method Of Letting Visitors Know What Is Going On

PROCEDURE IS OFTEN PUZZLING

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, May 25.—Bellevue most visitors to the house galleries are as puzzled as an uninitiated fan at a football game, Rep. O'Malley, (D) of Wisconsin, today offered a resolution ordering the distribution of "score cards" to explain to spectators what is transpiring in the chamber.

The congressional "score card" would be distributed at entrances to the chamber and would enable visitors to tell at a glance what bills are being considered. A summary of the more important parliamentary rules also would be printed on the card.

"I don't blame visitors for coming away from the galleries disgusted and with a feeling that the taxpayer's money is being squandered," O'Malley said.

"It is not a little disheartening for them to travel hundreds and even thousands of miles to the capitol, only to find, much to their amazement, that of 435 members of the house only a handful are casually listening to the business transacted on the floor."

"It could be explained to the visitors that very often such business concerns only this handful and that the congressman is not playing hooky just because he doesn't happen to be on the floor."

House leaders expressed fear the resolution would suffer the same fate that befell a bill by Rep. Raymond Cannon (D) of Wisconsin which would have clothed house members in numbered uniforms, similar to a baseball team, so those in the galleries could identify them.

Puppet Show At West Side

West Side Boys And Girls Introduce New Form Of Entertainment

Before an auditorium filled to capacity, students of the West Side school, on Thursday and Friday afternoons, successfully presented something new in the way of entertainment—a puppet show—entitled "West Side Puppets Pass in Review". The West Side pupils splendidly introduced a new form of entertainment in the elementary grade schools here. The boys and girls did everything themselves, including the making of the puppets and the manipulation of the puppets. The dolls were even larger than the ones used by the professionals. The giant, used in the play, "Jack and the Beanstalk", measured close to five feet high. David Robinson cleverly manipulated the mammoth puppet.

The audience, composed of principals, members of the school board and residents of the West Side district, was more than pleased with the performance, which lasted one hour. The scholars did a good job of impersonating the famous marionettes. The production was a five star triumph for the faculty supervisors, Miss Mary McBride, Miss Elsie Kivine and Miss Hazel Campbell. The lighting effects were possible through the courtesy of the Pennsylvania Power company.

The puppet show, "Jack and the Beanstalk", was an original playlet created by the 6A class. The chorus added much color to the event with various selections.

Following is the program and those who took part:

"Open the Curtain"—Chorus.
"The Clown and the Jack in the Box"—Clown, Mary C. Williams; Jack in the Box, Betty Williams.

Vaudeville acts—"Parade of the Wooden Soldiers": Soldier, Burl Johnson; song, chorus. "The Little Dutch Girl": Gretchen, Mary Tyler; chorus, original song, 6A class.

Puppet show—"Jack and the Beanstalk": Characters:
Jack—Eugene Wilson.
Jack's mother—Mary Massaro.
Giant—David Robinson.
Speaker—Ralph Owens.

Giant's wife—Elsie Linz.
Fair—Dorothy Onasch.
Nancy—Nancy Cook.

Scene 1—"In Jack's Backyard."
Chorus—Original song, 3A.
Chorus—Original song, 5B.

Scene 2—"In the Land of the Giant."
Scene 3—"Inside the Giant's House."
Chorus, 6A.

Scene 4—"In Jack's Backyard."
Properties designed, made and painted by Jack Richardson, John Brest, John O'Neill and Clarence Reece. Teachers' committee: Miss Mary McBride, Miss Elsie Kivine and Miss Hazel Campbell.

MAKES ADDRESS

Fifty citizens, ministers and laymen gathered in the Y. W. C. A. Friday night for the purpose of discussing the moral conditions of the city and county, and to suggest ways and means to combat the forces of lawlessness.

Out of the meeting came two actions, the first the appointing of a committee to arrange for a rally here on June 16, and the other the appointment of a committee to prepare a handbook of conditions in the county.

Martin, president of the National Reform association, was present Friday night and spoke upon the situation in the General Assembly at the present time. Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

SPRAY APPLES FOR DISEASE AND INSECT CONTROL

The wet weather which has been experienced in Lawrence County recently has caused the Petal Fall Spray application on apples to be a very important one.

The wet weather has caused apple scab to develop very rapidly so that the young fruit, stems, and leaves must be covered for protection. This is also an important spray for the control of codling moth, curculio, and red bugs.

Examination of orchards show considerable infestation of scab on unsprayed or poorly sprayed trees. The petal-fall application should be applied when about all the petals have fallen from the blossoms. It is important to apply the spray as soon as possible after these petals are off.

The material to use will include—lime sulphur, mixed summer strength which is approximately 2½ gallons of liquid lime sulphur to 100 gallons of water, or powdered lime sulphur at the rate recommended by the manufacturer. To each 100 gallons of this spray there should be added 3 pounds of lead arsenate and one pint of nicotine sulphate.

The spray man should aim to cover the young fruit and foliage completely, by spraying from different angles. A fine spray is advisable. Care should be taken to reach the inside branches as well as the top-most limbs.

VEGETABLES NEED PROPER THINNING
Probably the most common faulty practice in many gardens in Lawrence County is to sow the small seeded vegetables too thickly and then fail to thin the seedlings out properly after they are above ground.

Spinach and lettuce seeded in rows may be thinned several times, starting when the plants are two inches high. Use these thinning for food. In another week the remaining plants will have doubled in size when they should be thinned again until the plants stand 4 to 8 inches apart. This practice will give maximum quantity and best quality. The first thinning of lettuce may be used as transplants.

Peas are not usually thinned but the crop will give best results if the plants are about one inch apart. Radishes, carrots, beets, early turnips, and other root crops need proper spacing for root development. Thin radishes to about 2 inches apart. Thinnings of beets and turnips may be used for greens.

THE "HEADMEN" HAVE AN INFLUENCE

The effect of the "headmen" commonly called cockerels, in a flock of growing birds has recently been studied by F. N. Fronda, of the University of the Philippines.

Two hundred-eighty chicks, 8 weeks old, were divided up into the following lots:
Lot 1—50 pullets—no cockerels
Lot 2—50 pullets—10 cockerels
Lot 3—50 pullets—25 cockerels
Lot 4—50 pullets—50 cockerels

The presence of the males in the flock delayed the maturity of the pullets. For instance, the pullets in lot 1 matured in 177 days, those in lot 2 in 185 days, those in lot 3 in 193 days, and those in lot 4 in 200 days.

It was observed that most of the pullets in the no-cockered lot were gentle, healthy and vigorous. The pullets in the other three lots were wild and flighty.

SOYBEANS BEST FOR EMERGENCY HAY CROP

Some farmers never have enough hay. Many more had their clover prospects hurt by dry weather or burning out seedlings last summer. This will be a serious handicap to profitable stock feeding next winter.

The best substitute legume hay is soybeans. Bean hay seems fully equal to alfalfa and on almost any fertile soil can be counted on to produce 1½ to 2 tons per acre. The best varieties for the southern counties are Wilson and Virginia. Farther north, earlier sorts, such as Manchou and Dunnfield, are preferable. The beans should not be sown until the soil and weather are warm.

June 1st, is generally sufficiently early. Usually they are sown with a grain drill at the rate of 2 bushels per acre for the large light-colored, early beans and 1½ bushels for the black or greenish, small seeded, late sorts. Where economy must be practiced, one-half bushel sown in rows as close as 24 to 32 inches and given a few cultivations will produce nearly as much hay, but it will be coarser and more stemmy. Shallow covering of seed is important. Seed deeply covered on heavy soil of ten fails to push through.

Inoculation is important for soybeans. It stimulates more vigorous growth and increases both the amount and protein content of the hay. Soil from a field where well inoculated beans grew last year may be mixed with the beans before drilling or as a commercial inoculation used.

Fertilizer should be used on soybeans, but not over 150 or 200 lbs. per acre can be safely applied with the seed. On good soil, superphosphate will be adequate; otherwise, use an 8-12-5 or 2-12-5.

Soybeans make excellent green feed in late summer when pastures are short. They are high in protein.

CONSIDERED RAPE GOOD PASTURE FOR TURKEYS

Quite a few Pennsylvania turkey growers use rape for turkey pasture and find it satisfactory.

Rape was compared in tests with alfalfa and clover at the North Dakota Agricultural Experiment Station and the turkeys ate it well. Turkeys from the alfalfa, clover and rape pastures were roasted and served to a committee of people to detect any difference or objectionable tastes in the meat from the rape. Some of the judges thought the rape pastured birds tasted slightly different but none objected and a few favored the rape few birds.

Rape is a rank feeding plant and needs a soil quite rich in plant food and organic matter. It can be broadcasted by hand or a whirlwind seeder at the rate of 8 pounds per acre. Some people drill it with the grain drill at the rate of 5 pounds per acre. The grain drill covers the seed more uniformly and does not lose much seed in being buried too deep. This is why less seed is used when drilled. When broadcasted it should be harrowed shallow.

This plant is very responsive to rains and if it has good growing weather, it will be 5 to 6 inches high 6 weeks after seeding. It is ready to start pasturing at that time and is capable of furnishing 90 days of pasture in a season. For late pasture it should be sown from the first to the middle of July. It can be sown as early as cat planting time.

Rape may make very little progress in dry weather but it responds immediately to rains. It grows until fall and is not killed by frosts making it a forage crop that is still good after most other greens are killed.

MAY AND JUNE MEAN COMMENCEMENT TIME

Crisp cotton fabrics lead the fashion for commencement frocks and these are perfect for the junior miss, says Miss Eleanor Drury, home economics extension representative.

If members of the class are not dressing alike, the strong athletic type of girl may choose the dressy shirtwaist design; the dainty delicate type will prefer ruffles and lace. Organdy is always a favorite material; it is dainty and crisp and girlish; shadow pattern, or embroidered. Other cottons are novelty dimity, Swiss voile, net and cotton lace, Miss Drury explains.

Formal graduation dresses in 1935 have high neck lines, smooth covered bodices and full bodices. The skirts fit smoothly over the hips and full flare or pleats from the knee to instep. Select white, pale pink, chambray or maize, blue, Nile green or violet shades. The semi-formal type of dress is the choice of many graduates. The materials and colors are the same as the formal, but the sleeves may be short, three-quarter or full length, and the skirts are nine inches from the floor. Otherwise the style points are similar to those in the formal type of dress. Slips are white.

The ideal summer wraps for the girl graduate. Make them of taffeta (rayon taffeta is inexpensive and is made in lovely colors), or of material like the dress. Many of these capes are made with hoods. Miss Drury points out. Shoe styles are sandals or pumps, white or black. For the formal dress, they may be tinted to match the dress. Low heels are not only appropriate but just now are very smart.

Clean neatly arranged hair, and natural pinkish nails, complete the picture.

Officers Of Male Chorus Are Elected

The New Castle Male Voice Party announces the election of the following officers for the coming season:

President, Morgan Jones; vice president, Brinley Hughes; recording and financial secretary, Jesse McClelland; treasurer, Arthur J. Rees; librarian, William Emrick; board of directors, D. O. Davies, Griff Thomas, Irvin Hoffmeister, R. Peterson, G. W. Short, H. L. Polley and David Clement; music committee, William Richards, Harry Evans, James Bowman; director, Miss Gladys Thomas; assistant director, William Richards; accompanist, Miss Ann Thomas.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday evening, May 28, at 8 p. m. in the Emmanuel Baptist church.

BRIEF CASE STOLEN FROM BORON'S AUTO
Frank Boron, 126 West North street, reported to police last night that someone had stolen a brief case from his automobile. He said the brief case and contents were valued by him at $1,000. He left the brief case in his car which he parked twice, once in East Washington street near Florence avenue and again in the 100 block in East Long avenue.

Oriental Spectacle Is Circus Opening Feature

The gorgeous new spectacle, "Oriental Fantasy," opens each performance of the great Hagenbeck-Wallace and Forepaugh-Sells Bros Combined Circus, which exhibits in New Castle, on Saturday, June 1, at 2 and 8 p. m.

Staged by Roy Delano, noted producer of pageants, this extravaganza of the far East embraces a fortune in costumes alone and requires the appearance of nearly 1,000 persons. There are animals—elephants attired in jeweled robes as dignified and costly as those made for the Durbar of Delhi; camels with pretty native girls riding atop their unsteady humps; zebras and llamas and hundreds of splendid horses. Only because the Hagenbeck-Wallace and Forepaugh-Sells Bros show is the largest trained wild animal show in the world can justice be done to the colossal spectacle, "Oriental Fantasy." It's total participation of animals and personnel out-numbers half a dozen smaller shows and the beauty of its costly wardrobe for the 1935 season is calculated to outshine the fabled oriental treasures of ancient times.

Father Coughlin, of Detroit, talking to more than twenty thousand in New York evoked hissing and booing for the administration in connection with the bonus veto and explained the necessity of doing away with a "vicious plutocratic, capitalistic system, which for the last fifty years has operated to concentrate wealth in the hand of a few."

Father Coughlin might have gone further back than fifty years, and to the days of Jacques Coeur, to the days of the Medici, back farther still to old King Croesus, showing his piles of gold to Solon.

In their present state of civilization, men like money, "smart men" get what they want. They will continue to get money, either as members of the "vicious plutocratic, capitalistic system," or as members of some other system, labor union, "share-the-wealth" or some other.

HEADS OF important industries, steel included, tell the government they would like "to be let alone." That is too much to ask in these times. The government has ideas that can be carried out only by money. Business is supposed to have the money, and you cannot extract it by jettisoning business alone.

Mr. Grace says the steel industry has "lost $268,000,000 in three years." The natural question arises: "How much has it left, and how can tax collectors get it?"

HEREAFTER, Smith College girls "may wear shorts on the streets of Northampton, Mass." Shorts, are ordinary breeches cut off a long way above the knee, legs protruding, usually naked. Northampton's police chief says:

"It's all right so long as this thing is not carried to extremes." Great grandmothers of the "Smith girls" and Dr. Mary Walker, who was arrested for wearing a stove-pipe hat, man's coat and long trousers might consider extreme, modern "shorts" that would keep dry in deep water.

AMELIA EARHART, probably the best American flier, man or woman, flew alone across the Atlantic ocean, flew from Hawaii to California, 2,400 miles alone, ahead of any man; flew alone from Mexico City to New York, 7,000 miles over the Gulf of Mexico, in a one-engine land plane, beat Col. Lindbergh's time from Mexico City to Washington by 14 hours.

Now driving an automobile from an airport to Chicago's "loop" Amelia Earhart Putnam runs out of gas and is pushed to a filling station by an obliging policeman.

Describe that, wittily, in ten words if you can. (Copyright, 1935, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. International copyright and all other rights reserved.)

Dear Quotarian:
After our splendid meeting of last week, we may feel our next meeting may be anti-climax. Such will not be the case, however, for at our usual dinner-meeting, Monday evening in the Elks club, at 6 o'clock, we will hear Louis Round speak, in celebration of Memorial Day.

On Wednesday evening, we will go to commencement exercises at Union High school, Dorothy Gordon, of Crawford-Oakridge Home, will be graduated.

Today

No Bonus, Now.

Six More Killed.

Can You Kill Capitalism? Let Us Alone? No Indeed.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

AS WAS expected and predicted, among others by Senator Borah, who favored the Patman bill, the Senate sustains the President's veto and the veterans will not get their money, now.

If and when they do get it, it will probably be on the basis of issuing government bonds, paying lenders of money, in interest, exactly as much as the veterans will get from their bonus.

Some, lacking the pawn-broker complex, will wonder why it is necessary, since government prints the money, controls credit, promises no gold for its bonds, to double the public debt by unnecessary interest payments.

THE BONUS was beaten by eight Senate votes. Thirty-two Senators come up for re-election next year. You would say, off-handed that some of them might regret beating the bonus, after a majority of the Senate had approved it.

The fact that few Americans remembered anything, for as much as a year, will comfort some Senators.

SENATOR HUEY P. LONG seems to know something about "this body" meaning the Senate. Before the vote on the veto was taken he said:

"The veterans think this veto is going to be over-ridden, but I know it isn't. I knew two days ago that our case was hopeless."

SIX MORE Navy fliers killed in the Pacific "war games"—rather serious "games."

Some will ask: Are rules for Navy flying made by pilots that understand flying, or by men that never fly? Who issue and sustain the rule that compels fliers to keep almost as close together as marching infantry?

In real war a pilot is no infantryman, working, obeying mechanically. He is a GENERAL, in command of his plane using his own judgment at every moment.

Why in peace time should he risk his life "wing to wing" inviting disaster?

FATHER COUGHLIN, of Detroit, talking to more than twenty thousand in New York evoked hissing and booing for the administration in connection with the bonus veto and explained the necessity of doing away with a "vicious plutocratic, capitalistic system, which for the last fifty years has operated to concentrate wealth in the hand of a few."

Engineers Attend Sharon Gathering

Under the leadership of Carl Reis, president of the Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers Society, a group of about 20 members and their wives went to Sharon Friday night where they attended a meeting of the Sharon Section, American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

The meeting was held in St. John's parish house, the speaker being Dr. H. H. Henlein, national secretary of the A. I. E. E. He spoke upon the development of the engineer from a century ago and came down through the World War to the present day. His address was an interesting one.

Following the meeting a dance was held. The local group had a pleasant time, the visit being in the nature of a return courtesy for similar visits made here by the Sharon men.

SONS OF LEGION MEET

Sons of the American Legion held their usual meeting Friday night at the Legion Home. Final arrangements were made for Memorial Day services, to take place at the Legion Home.

Entertainment was provided by Mr. Dods of the Lawrence County Sportsman Association, who gave an interesting talk on "Wild Life." Following Mr. and Mrs. Don Davenport played with piano and vocal selections.

Cream Of Track Stars Of Pennsylvania Contest For Honors Today

(International News Service) STATE COLLEGE, Pa., May 25.—More than 600 athletes, the cream of the schoolboy sportsman in Pennsylvania, came to grips for honors here today in the state track and field meet of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic association, revived after a lapse of two years.

The titular classic, last held in 1932, was revived by the P. I. A. A. as the result of a broader sports program adopted last winter. The state scholastic golf title also was to be decided today in the first such tournament sponsored by the association.

District 1 entries, the defending champs, were generally expected to repeat their 1932 success. The athletes from Norristown, Lower Merion, Upper Darby, Ridley Park, Ambler and Lansdowne will provide fast competition in each of the 13 events.

Will Get Medals. Each district sent in two entries to each event and two complete relay teams. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be presented to individual winners and a trophy to the high-scoring school. Virtually every record in the meet was threatened on the basis of the district showing last Saturday from which the representative athletes were culled. Five marks were broken and two others equaled last week. Johnny Woodruff, Connelville Negro star, was expected to provide the day's big thrill. Woodruff last week flashed to a new national scholastic record for the mile by clipping better than 17 seconds from the mark of 4 minutes, 40.5 seconds set by Musick of Pittsburgh Langley at the last state competition.

Four entries from each of the 10 districts represented will participate in the golf tourney of 36 holes medal play.

DOG MOTHERS LIONS (International News Service) BUDAPEST.—A lioness in the Zoological gardens took a strong dislike to its two cubs. Not only did she refuse to mother them—she started knocking them about the cage. So the cubs were removed and given over to the care of a sheep dog. Now the cubs and puppies play happily together.

DAVIS WANT FORFEIT GAME Manager Harry B. Strasbaugh, of the Davis soft ball team, claims the recent game with the Capitolas at B. & O. by forfeit due to the fact that umpire of the game Tom Conti was not paid by the Capitola team. The umpires must be paid before the game starts, is the rule of the league and must be lived up by all teams. The umpires are asked to help enforce this rule by demanding their money for the games before play is started. The game in question was played on May 20th.

clowning, the cool dead-pan Detroit-er will take advantage of it. While the other fighters have been riled or awed by Baer's humor, Louis will be a serious but merciless foe whose facial expression will convince Baer that the humor is unnoticed and impractical. Many fans believe that Baer could defeat Louis now, but that the latter will have the upper hand after a season of experience. The Louis handlers, too, claim that they want no part of Baer for another year, which sounds sensible.

However, the Brown Bomber may yet face Baer this season. Max has stated emphatically that he will not draw the color line. But what if Baer should lose the title to Braddock, Schmeling or someone else before Louis gets a crack at the crown? Would the new titleholder fight a Negro? Probably not if the Negro happens to be Louis. And what if Louis improves to such an extent over the coming year that even Baer would change his mind about fighting him? It may be good judgment to allow Louis to fight Baer this autumn, if the opportunity arises, while there are still some persons, including Baer himself, who think Max can whip the Negro. Later on when Louis is fully developed he may not get a chance at the title. The writer believes that Louis can whip any man alive in the ring, even though the Detroit Negro is only 21 years old. He is young, yes, but he has taken his business seriously and he is in condition. Baer is not in condition and has never taken boxing seriously. An immature man, physically fit and possessor of natural ability beyond that of any opponent, will be more than an even match against a German movie actor, a carnival strong man, or Gay Lothario.

There may be nothing wrong with this type of ballyhoo but after it has quieted down the fans still don't know whether the person in question can fight or not. While the rest of the fistie world is on this dizzy merry-go-round, Joe Louis becomes a sensation by doing nothing more than fighting, clean living, and minding his own business in a serious way. It has been such an unusual method for the present time that the fans really get enthusiastic over the novelty of seeing a fighter who gets his publicity by fighting.

Since Louis turned pro less than a year ago he has been capably guided through a sport that is now more or less of a racket from the managers, matchmakers and rules down to the seconds and ticket sellers. Many a pitfall must be dodged if a fighter is to steer clear of the chiselers, but so far the Detroit Negro has been successful. He has placed himself in the hands of a few of his own race who know boxing and finance. To the fellows like Joe Jacobs and Jimmy Johnston who have promised him riches for a "slice" of his earnings, he has turned a deaf ear. It is a sensational career started in a sensible manner and it is to be hoped that he has long and great success. Shortly after Baer won the championship last summer, the Patrol wrote that "when the Livermore Larupper is licked it will take a cool boxer with a punishing jab to beat him. Not one of the current challengers has enough boxing ability to get Baer past the clowning stage."

"So just as it took a Corbett to lick Sullivan and a Tunney to defeat Dempsey, it will take a smart and clever boxer with punishing fists to win from the wallowing titleholder. Unless a new sensation is discovered in short order or one of the current heavies develops unexpectedly (both unlikely), Baer has little to worry about." But Joe Louis is the new sensation and he is the man that can do the job. He is the smart and clever boxer with punishing fists. Baer can make the Levinskys, Carnas and others look foolish with his clowning but such antics will not faze Louis in the least. Instead of being bothered by Baer's

Pirates Defeat Braves 7 To 6

Pittsburgh Pirates Hand Boston Braves Setback With Jim Weaver On Mound

INDIANS WALLOP ATHLETICS 12-2

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 25.—It appears that almost everybody, except Rajah Hornsby, has picked the St. Louis Browns to wind up in the basement of the American League.

However, the Rajah, pugacious as always and as honest in his opinions as he is frank in voicing them, takes violent exception to this rating.

Well, then, whom does the Rajah think he possibly could pass? "Any of them," snapped the Rajah today. "I don't see any world beaters among them. They can all be licked."

From which you may correctly surmise that the Rajah hasn't a very high opinion of the American league this season.

The Rajah believes Connie Mack has the finest young team in the country, and given a couple of pitchers, could walk, not run, to the next pennant.

Likes Coleman
"Trouble with my bunch," says the truthful Rajah, "is I've got too many four-hits-to-a-run hitters. But I can't kick because they give me all they've got. Trouble is, they haven't enough to give."

"I like guys like this big Coleman I just got back from Mack. Fellows who can break up a game for you with one wallop."

It was this same Coleman who played no small part in putting the skids under Lefty Gomez and the Yanks yesterday, 6 to 3. Big Ed was never famous as a milk drinker when Mack had him but Hornsby says he can handle Ed. Strangely enough, big Ed seems delighted with his transfer to a tail end club and a hard taskmaster.

His hitting since joining the club the other day must have given the other Browns an incentive for Burns and Pepper came to life with homers to help end a losing streak which had run through six games.

Newsom Wins
At the same time Buck Newsom whom Hornsby sold to the Senators for $40,000 ended a personal string of six defeats by cutting out the White Sox, 10 to 0, in his first start in a Washington uniform. Buck gave the Sox only five hits.

Mel Harder had a soft time trimming the Athletics when his buddies led on three Mackman heaves for 18 hits and a 12-2 decision. And Lefty Grove, although touched up for 14 smackers, trimmed the Tigers 8 to 4. The Red Sox chased old General Crowder from the box and boated Fip Marberry with scant consideration.

The Giants slugged the Cubs into a coma, bouncing 20 hits off Hendrix Casey and Bryant for 20 solid smacks, and a 13-0 verdict. Gus Mancuso drove in five of the Giant markers. Hal Schumacher gave only four hits in ringing up the shut-out.

Pirates Win
The Pirates downed the Braves, 7 to 6, but not before Cliff Thompson, Braves rookie outfielder, had thrown a scare into big Jim Weaver by hitting a ninth inning homer with the bases fully laden.

The Dodgers nipped the Cardinals 4 to 3. The Cards chased Lefty Clark with a three run barrage in the second but Munn held them safe the rest of the route. The Dodgers piled into Dizzy for four runs in the third and moved back into second place ahead of the Cubs.

Night Game Draws
Amid much fanfare and before an enthusiastic crowd of 20,422 paying guests, the Cincinnati Reds played host to the Philadelphia Phillies in the first night championship game ever played in the Major leagues.

The Reds, with seven players in their lineup who played night ball in the Minors last season, won by a score of 2 to 1.

Neither the spectators nor the players had trouble following the ball under the rays of the 1500-watt Mazda lights which shone down on the field. Both teams played errorless ball. The contest was a pitching duel, with Paul Derringer shading Joe Bowman.

Volant Baseball Team Organized
Volant baseball team has organized for the season with R. E. Grim, being elected as manager and with F. B. Simpson as business manager. The treasurer of the team will be W. E. Brown and C. Rudolph will act as field captain of the Volantians. The team would like to book a team for a double header on Memorial Day. For games call Business Manager Simpson at phone 32-1 Volant, Pa.

GRANGE MEETING
ELLWOOD CITY, May 25.—In connection with their regular semi-monthly meeting members of the North Sewickley town hip grange held a fish fry and dance last evening at their hall on the Ellwood. New Brighton road with a large number in attendance.

Plans were made to present a program and play at the Chippewa grange on Tuesday evening, June 4. The next regular meeting will be held on Friday evening, June 14.

ELLWOOD CITY, May 25.—As a result of a contest held through the attention of the young folks throughout the evening while a program of speeches and music was enjoyed by the older folks. Rev. Harold Woods, of New Brighton, a former pastor, gave an interesting address as did Rev. Arthur Aiken of Alverton, who is superintendent of young people's work in the western Pennsylvania eldership. Rev. Arnold Berg, the present pastor, contributed a number of interesting features.

ELLWOOD CITY, May 25.—Fun and merry-making prevailed at the Senior Day observance in the Lincoln high school yesterday afternoon in the Lincoln auditorium.

In traditional style the Senior A's ruled throughout the day. The real thing was held in the afternoon when they had complete charge of a program. LeMoyne French presided on the occasion and led the devotions. This was followed with a class prophecy given by Irene Brander, Anne Bradley and Anella Fletcher.

The assemblage was kept in a state of laughter with LeMoyne French read the class in which the graduating class bequeathed their many admirable traits, qualities, intelligence, ability, advantages, etc., to the Senior B's or faculty.

A serious part of the program occurred when President Ray Wallis of the Senior A's presented the traditional card to President Carl Zeigler of the Senior B's. Norman Weigler then discussed a business matter with the students.

One of the highlights of the program was when various members of the class imitated or mimicked various members of the high school faculty. This was the only opportunity they had of this type and how they took advantage of it. The auditorium echoed and re-echoed with roars of laughter as the characterization of the faculty members would be recognized. Of course, this was all in fun and in keeping with the occasion. Harold Friedman was in charge of this.

The program came to a climax with the presentation of athletic letters and sweaters to the Senior athletes by Principal Ralph C. Shaffer. Those receiving these were Com Mazzano, William Jeannette, Art Bettano, Jack Steekman, Ray Kaufman, Fred Bocco, Alvin Robuck, William Dadds and Managers Neghin and Scotty Lee.

ELLWOOD CITY, May 25.—In the presence of her family, relatives and large circle of friends, Mrs. Josie White, pioneer resident of this city, was laid to her final rest yesterday afternoon.

A simple but impressive ceremony was held from the late home on Todd avenue, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Snare, Ray J. Aiken, King, pastor of the local Baptist Memorial church, paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the deceased. Mrs. King sang a beautiful selection. Flowers were in profusion about the home showing the high esteem in which Mrs. White was held here. The services were attended by the Pythian Sisters and Orange Ladies.

Interment was made in the North Sewickley cemetery. The pallbearers were the grandsons of the deceased. They were Ray, Howard and Gerald Snare, Kenneth Snare, William Fisher and James Carothers. Attending the services were people from Beaver Valley, New Castle, Butler and Poland, O.

Mrs. White is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Clara Share of this city, and Mrs. Edna Fisher of North Sewickley; two sons, Ralph and Howard White; two brothers, Edward Main of Belton, and Alonzo Main of Park Gate.

G. A. R. Ladies

ELLWOOD CITY, May 25.—Ladies of the G. A. R. held their regular meeting Friday night in the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall on Fourth street, with a good attendance present.

ELLWOOD CITY, May 25.—Community Chest drive in Ellwood City is gaining appreciable momentum. Reports are beginning to come in with a greater regularity. The local industries report good progress and will probably be in the early part of next week. This will thus necessitate extending the drive.

The official report for Friday shows $2,900 in the chest. This remains for $17,000 yet to be raised. The amount raised is expected to take an appreciable jump by this evening. The drive in the local plant is well on its way. The plant here has specified that the funds raised here are to go only to the hospital. Funds from the school are being checked at the present.

The gradual gaining of momentum by the drive is an encouraging sign to Chairman H. S. Gold and his many committees. They are hopeful that the drive will go over the top by the end of next week.

WELL brethren and sisters, I suppose you know that council has taken the first step to put to a vote of the people the idea of bonding the town for a couple of million to go into the municipal ownership business, and Fleeting Dewberry hears that the million dollar court house idea is being revived, and the new canal will cost Lawrence County five or ten million. Well, people, Frank knows a lot of good folks in town who would be starving if it wasn't for Uncle Sam, and he knows a lot of good folks who can't pay their taxes and he knows a lot of grand citizens who haven't had a new suit or a new dress since the steel mill went down. But what's a few million dollars nowadays. This spending spree is just like the good old chain letter idea. No one is going to get it in the neck and get it good and hard. Because while every cloud has a silver lining you know it's a long line that hasn't a turn.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 25.—
"Doc" Williams, 26, of Anderson, Ind., driving a Henderson Special, narrowly escaped death at the Indianapolis motor speedway today when his car, which he was warming up for a qualification test, crashed through a retaining wall on the south turn, fracturing his ankle.Henderson was piloting his car around the brick oval between 90 and 100 miles an hour when the mishap occurred.Suddenly his car, which was traveling on the top of the steeply banked curve, shot downward across the track and through the wall, hurling the driver clear of the wreckage. Williams got up and limped on one foot to an ambulance. Doctors at the speedway track hospital said his condition was not serious. The pilot was rid-

NEW YORK, May 25.—Death towriter of "The Sidewalks of New York," one of the best known and most widely sung popular songs ever written.Blake, 73, died alone and penniless.

An operation for cancer had been performed upon him ten days ago.Blake wrote his famous song more than 40 years ago and so well known did it become that it is doubtful if there is one of the 7,000,000 inhabitants of New York City today who is not familiar with at least a portion of it.Al Smith adopted the song in his political campaign of 1928 and has used it as his personal anthem ever since.In spite of the song's great popularity, Blake made extremely little money out of it.Death Sentence

HEADED FOR AUSTRIAN REGENCY

Heimwehr, has been prominently mentioned in Vienna for the post of regent for the vacant Haps-

Road Transfer Bills Will Be Acted On Soon

Omnibus Bills, Transferring More Secondary Roads To State, Before Legislature

WOULD INCREASE STATE SYSTEM

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 25.—A series of omnibus bills transferring nearly 3,000 miles of highways from local jurisdiction to the state system came up for final action in the house next week.

The largest section of the program, a survey disclosed today, would add approximately 2,512 miles of second class township roads to the state rural highway system. This is five per cent of the remaining township roads not now in the state network of roads.

Two other bills provide for transferring more than 160 miles of city and borough streets to the state for maintenance. All of these streets link state routes running through the cities. The house already has approved the fourth bill in the set, transferring 145 miles of Philadelphia streets to the state for maintenance.

To Decide Policy.

Once in senate committees with house approval, the omnibus bills are expected to hasten a decision by leaders of the upper chamber on whether all remaining township roads should be taken over by the state permanently or whether subsidies should be voted to townships to maintain the 48,500-mile secondary road system.

Bills which would do both have been on the senate's postponed calendar for several weeks. Senator Edward B. Bennett, Indiana, is sponsor of the measure to add the roads to the state system while Senator John W. Howell, Lackawanna, is backing the subsidy plan with a bill appropriating $19,000,000 in state aid for township roads.

The township roads at present are being maintained by the state in co-operation with local supervisors under the Parkinson act of 1933 which transferred the township system to the state for two years. Considerable controversy has developed over whether the roads should become the permanent charge of the state.

Compromise Measure.
The house plan of taking over five per cent of the township system and providing state-aid for the rest is understood to be a compromise suggestion from the Democratic side of the legislature which bears administration support. If enacted, it would reduce the $19,000,000 requirement in the Howell bill by about $1,000,000.

Rep. Roy E. Furman, Greene, chairman of the highway committee, is sponsor of the bill transferring 2,512 miles of township roads which comes up for second reading Monday night. Rep. A. J. Gerard, Allegheny, introduced the bill transferring maintenance of 524 miles of city streets to the state and Rep. J. M. Flinchbaugh, York, is sponsor of the measure transferring 110 miles of borough streets. Both of these bills are up for final passage Monday.

The mileage of township roads to be taken over in the various counties, as the Furman bill is now drafted, includes:

Allegheny 50, Armstrong 55, Beaver 30, Bedford 46, Blair 15, Butler 57, Cambria 30, Cameron 3, Centre 25, Clarion 44, Clearfield 48, Clinton 15, Crawford 68, Elk 15, Erie 48, Fayette 54, Forest 9, Greene 44, Indiana 57, Jefferson 39, Lawrence 25, McKean 17, Mercer 52, Potter 29, Tioga 50, Venango 37, Warren 33, Washington 62 and Westmoreland 69.

LIQUOR SALES SHOW INCREASE

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 25.—Liquor sales again surpassed the million-dollar mark last week after dipping under that figure the week before, the liquor control board announced Friday in listing sales for the week ending May 18 at $1,024,234.

The previous week's total was $958,495. Last week was the 10th week in 20 weeks this year in which the total sales exceeded $1,000,000.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., May 24, seven arrests on charges as follows: Suspicion 4 and Drunkenness 3.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne said in police court here that unless some of the persons who load themselves with booze then land in police court make themselves more conspicuous by their absence he will hand out sadder sentences. He has seldom sent a man to jail unless the prisoner has been convicted of drunkenness repeatedly. Some of the prisoners, judging from the mayor's remarks have been taking advantage of his patience and he indicated that the time may come soon when patience will no longer be a virtue as far as they are concerned.

For the first time in several weeks no session of council was held on a Friday. Four of the councilmen were in Washington attending the canal hearing.

Persons who come to New Castle and solicit business without the formality of taking out a license do not last long. Generally the solicitors are at work no more than a few minutes until some householder telephones police and officers in a cruiser car visit the solicitor and request a view of his credentials. If they have received permission they are not molested. However, if they happen to be fly-by-night solicitors they are taken to city hall.

Police have drawn vacation periods. They will start June 1 and end September 2. By that time the one day off each week for each policeman may commence.

With the bathing season not far distant, police authorities will probably make arrangements to have the life-boat, now mounted on wheels, kept ready for travel to streams where accidents may occur. The boat can be fastened to the rear of police cars. The police department not only has a life-boat but also grapples hooks and a pulmotor. In case of accident or drowning persons should call No. 8. No doubt a Civilian Flying squadron, composed of expert swimmers will be organized again.

Dear Brother Lion:
We will again honor the Civil War veterans at our annual Memorial Day program. The Lawrence county union veterans will be our guests at our meeting on Tuesday. As guest speaker we will have Dr. John J. McIlvaine, new pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Music appropriate to the day will also be furnished by club members.
Very truly yours,

Stress Educational Side Of June 11 Flower Show

From an educational standpoint the flower show which the Lawrence County Garden club will sponsor at the Cathedral on Tuesday, June 11, will score new highs for floral exhibitions in this district.

That became evident today as the energetic sponsors tackled the many preliminary details of the county show and announced that educational exhibits will play a prominent place on the show program.

From 2 to 10 p. m. the show will be open to the public and leaders believe that during those eight hours new records for local flower show attendance will be established.

Mrs. S. DeGraff Pearson is heading the club's show organization and has to aid her an able corps of volunteers.

Suggests Exhibitions.

"Educational exhibits in addition to those suggested on the mimeographed schedule of exhibitions may include any project such as a terrarium—a glass garden condensing its own moisture—in which plants native to this section are displayed, or aquariums showing plant and fish in proper balance and including the list of plants used," a spokesman for the show announced.

"The development of any plant family," it was added, "or interesting members of plant family may be shown by drawings properly labeled. Native material used in nature study work in the schools, whether animal or plant life, also makes a desirable exhibit."

School Interest Sought.

Ribbons will be awarded and the schools of the city were urged today to enter this exhibit. In this way the public may learn of the work in the grades.

Special attention will be given the subjects of forest fires, soil erosion and the state tree, flower and bird. Show directors urged all those having material of educational value, foreign or native, and not subject to other classes listed in the schedule plan, to enter it by calling either Mrs. William Howley, Bell 219-J; Mrs. Charles Greer, Bell 439; Mrs. E. F. G. Harper, Bell 2177; or Mrs. Brown K. Thacker, Bell 4619-R.

It has been five years since the club sponsored a show and, with depression days past, the club this year plans to make up in exhibitions the years that have been lost.

Serving for the show together with other garden club officers is Mrs. William Kennedy, treasurer. Her name was unavoidably omitted in the list of officers published before.

ROSES

Like delphiniums, gorgeous roses will have a front row stand at the Cathedral show. Of roses, G. A. Stevens of the American Rose society reports:

"During the past year the American Rose society's committee on the national rose garden has chosen a tentative site near Washington, D. C. The garden is to be a public educational center, with a display garden, collections of roses and rose species, and facilities for research. The gold medal of the American Rose society was awarded to 'Trendy' A. Schenck of New York at the International Flower show in March for the new golden yellow rose Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, another sport from the famous 'talesman'. At the National Flower and Garden show at Rochester, N. Y., in April the gold medal was given to Frank Schramm of Crystal Lake, Ill., for his new rose, Mrs. Frank Schramm, a bright, glowing rose-pink sport of Blaridiff. The Tallman parentage of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt indicates good garden possibilities.

"This year will see the introduction of the famous Black Rock of Sangerhausen, Nigrette, and the interesting Australian novelty, Sentinel. An orange hybrid tea, appears particularly good. Others appear promising."

On Court House Hill

County Welfare director, M. B. Hogue has been laid up for several days with a severe cold, but is reported better.

Register and Recorder William R. Hanna has received a picture post card from Attorney Gilbert Long, who is attending the Kiwanis national convention at San Antonio, Tex. Long writes: "This is a good climate for Democrats".

Naturalization court for second papers, will be held at the court house on next Monday. There are about forty applicants on the list. An examiner from the department at Pittsburgh will be present to ask the questions.

County Treasurer William R. Pitts has had a rush of beer license applications during the past few days. The old licenses expire on June 1. Indications are that there will not be as many licenses issued by the county treasurer this year as last, when there were 118. This will be due to the fact that quite a number who held beer licenses have secured hard liquor licenses from the state liquor control board, which makes it unnecessary to take out a beer license, as beer is included in the state license. A few have not found the beer business profitable and will not be applicants for a license this year, while very few new applications will be made.

There is considerable interest in the Crosser bill, introduced in the lower house of congress, requiring a Supreme Court majority of seven to two in order to declare an act of congress unconstitutional. This is an outgrowth of the five-to-four decision by which the court outlawed the railroad pension act. Local opinion seems to be against any change in the law.

Letters of administration have been granted by the register and recorder in the following estates: Anna B. Semons, late of this city to Austa E. Weddell; Luther M. Buchanan, late of the second ward, to Minta D. Buchanan; Kate M. Marshall, late of the second ward, to Edmond E. Marshall; Allen A. Patton, late of Hickory township, to James E. Chambers; Charles C. Wilson, late of Perry township to H. E. Wilson; Bertha Bartsch, late of this city, to J. R. Bartsch; Emma Mayberry, late of the second ward, to Lawrence Savings and Trust Company.

Judges Hildebrand and Chambers will hold a session on next Tuesday at which pleas will be taken and sentences will be passed on those who decided not to stand trial at the coming term of quarter sessions court. There are several persons whose applications for new trials have been received who may be sentenced on verdicts already rendered.

A resolution asking the state senate to remain in session until some action is taken toward a reduction of school taxes has been introduced by Senator Peter Graff of the Butler-Armstrong district. Senator Graff pointed out that real estate carries 92 per cent of the tax load for schools and local government. In his resolution he reminded the senate that both Republicans and Democrats had pledged themselves to provide relief for property owners, as well as for unemployed. So far, the resolution said, no such relief has been provided the taxpayers. The senator urged passage of senate bill No. 1,305, an amendment to section 1210 of the school code, which would provide for payment of elementary school teachers salaries, and an appropriation bill providing the necessary funds.

The American Historical Society has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Vere L. Birchard, executor in the estate of the late Josephine Birchard of Ellwood City to collect a bill of $167.50. It is alleged that Mrs. Birchard had contracted with the company for four volumes of a political, governmental, military and civil history of Pennsylvania at a price of $42.50. Also that on June 17th, 1932 she had ordered the execution of a gray bordered copper plate portrait of her husband, the late Dr. Henry B. Birchard for which she was to pay $125. It is claimed that Mrs. Birchard died before these bills were paid, hence the suit against the estate.
